Monday 4th June

Happy new month from SELFguarding!

SELFguarding was very busy in May our massive mail to over 100 primary schools across East London last month.

Continuing on our excitement of SELFguarding being featured in Education today, which is a magazine circulated to over 45,000 Head Teachers and education professionals.

I'm happy to report the massive response and feedback that came back, and the surge in followers on our Instagram selfguardinguk.

Other than all the above there's not much more to report!!

What's next for SELFguarding, you may ask? Well, our next step is to continue to reach out to schools and our local MP's for support to help us breakthrough and protect our future.

Children are our future so let's teach them a new and an empowering way, to go with our current way that needs support.

Thank you all for your support.

Look forward to updating you all again soon.

Take care from
